

Kirk Miller Named Chief Operating Officer of HealthCare Partners Nevada

LAS VEGAS —HealthCare Partners Nevada, a division of DaVita HealthCare Partners Inc. (NYSE:DVA), announced it has named Kirk Miller as chief operating officer (COO).

Miller brings more than 25 years of health care management experience to HealthCare Partners Nevada. Most recently, Miller served as senior vice president and COO of John Muir Health Physician Network in Walnut Creek, California. Prior to that role, he served as vice president at Excelsa Health, Inc. in Greensburg, Pennsylvania.

“With a long and distinguished record of excellence in health care management, Kirk will bring an innovative approach to HealthCare Partners’ Nevada operations,” said Dennis Kogod, president of HealthCare Partners.

“Kirk’s extensive experience will play a key role in helping HealthCare Partners Nevada continue to provide high-quality, coordinated care throughout Southern Nevada,” said Dr. Bard Coats, market president of HealthCare Partners Nevada. “Our team looks forward to working alongside him for many years to come.”

Miller earned a bachelor’s degree in physics from the University of Tennessee and a master’s degree in business administration from the Jack C. Massey Graduate School of Business at Belmont University.

“I firmly believe in the mission of HealthCare Partners Nevada to provide comprehensive, patient-focused care through its innovative Total Care Model,” said Miller. “I plan to advance the organization’s efforts as a leader in the transformation of health care across Nevada and the United States.”
